Police investigate suspicious death

Carlsbad, Calif. – On June 7, at 5:41 a.m. the City of Carlsbad Police Department received a call about a white male in his 20's lying on the beach needing medical aide. Bystanders on the beach were providing life-saving medical aid.

Fire and police units responded to the area of Ocean and Beech in Carlsbad. On arrival the fire department rendered medical aid and transported the male to Tri-City Medical Center where the male was pronounced dead.

The police department began a comprehensive investigation into the suspicious death. Additional details are under investigation.

The male's identity is currently unknown.
